Col. Breckinridge Dead.

Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, the all-veteran orator of Lexington, Ky., died last Sunday from the effects of a stroke of paralysis suffered a few days previous. The Lexington Leader pays a beautiful tribute to this brilliant man, and from it we take the following:

"When great men die nations bow their heads with grief.

Their lives have been the common heritage of mankind and the countless thousands who have worshipped at their shrines claim kinship with the dead and come to lay their loving tributes on their graves.

One of the greatest has gone—Col. William C. P. Breckinridge is dead.

"Calmy, without complaint upon his lips or murmured protest in his heart, a soldier, statesman, orator, thinker, than whom Kentucky has nurtured few greater sons, passed out of mortal presence shortly before the hour that marked the coming of this Sabbath day.

Whether the tongue whose cadences men were wont to liken unto silver in hushed in eternal silence, or released from the temporary fetters of the last malady, awakes to slay among new and transcendent stories, we cannot look behind the impenetrable veil. But this much is true that neither death nor change can for a moment rob his neighbors of his race of the impress of his lofty thought, nor that of the almost sublime genius of his soul.

He passed as the soldier passed meeting the last enemy with the same calm, the same gallant and dash, the same front with which he had faced every other antagonist in his singularly useful and busy life or dreary other danger on every other field. It is to be regretted that voice and countenance had been dead when he met the great night gathered as those who sat his couch and saw and anxiety awaited the triumphant voice that roused the drowsy "rock" and the response sive "God speed" till they should clasp hands again according to the promise.

Measuring its loss by the height and depth of the single life that is gone out, the whole community joins with those who feel this sorrow deepest, and the first thought of those who knew the dead and know the living is that of sympathy that cannot altogether be told in words; and as he passes out upon the arm of death, the servant and not the master, to the great white camp just across the friendly "shade of the trees" shelters his old comrades of the deathless sixties, and where we are told the dead shall walk again in the "newness of life" with the friends of mortal days, the Leader mingles its brief tribute, none the less sincere because humble."

The trustees of the late Cecil Rhodes, the South African multimillionaire who left the bulk of his great fortune to education, have notified the committee for Kentucky that another scholarship will be awarded in January, 1905. Clarke Tandy, Hopkinsville, a graduate of the State College, won the first scholarship and he is now at Oxford University enrolled as a student. The appointment will be made by competitive examination to be held at Lexington some time in January. For all practical purposes it is limited to college graduates, as it is useless for any without college training to undertake the examination. Full information may be obtained from either Prof. Arthur Yager, chairman, of Georgetown, or Dr. John L. Weber, Secretary, of Winchester.

The ceremonies and banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce of Catlettsburg in connection with the formal opening of Big Sandy river to slackwater navigation was a great occasion. The program was well carried out and the addresses were very interesting.

With one exception all the trains leaving Louisville are carrying tanks of water, the drought having made it necessary. Stock ponds are dried up all over the state in consequence of the short rainfall of the past few months.

The naval estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905 aggregate $113,539,635, an increase over the last appropriation of $17,372,448.

OBITUARY.

Bro. Graham joined Blaine Lodge I. O. O. F., June 1st, 1900. Since that time he has been a home of all true Old Fellows.

Whereas the Great and supreme ruler of the Universe has in his infinite wisdom removed from among us one of our worthy and esteemed fellow-laborers and, whereas, the long and intimate relation held with him in the faithful discharge of his duties in this Lodge makes it eminent in our hearts to record our appreciation of him, therefore,

Resolved, that in the ability and wisdom which he has exercised in the aid of our organization, service contributions and counsel, will be held in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, that the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deepened by all the members and friends of this organization and will prove a serious loss to the community and the public.

Resolved, that with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by him who loath all things well.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the record of this Lodge, a copy printed in the Big Sandy News and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

W. H. C. Thompson, J. T. Griffith and W. A. Arrington, Committee.

ONLY MAKES A BAD MATTER WORSE.

Perhaps you had never thought of it but the fact must be apparent to every one that constipation is caused by a lack of water in the system, and the use of drastic cathartics like the old-fashioned pills only makes a bad matter worse.

Chambers' Stomach and Liver Tablets are much more mild and gentle in their effect, and when the proper dose is taken their action is so natural that one can hardly realize it is the effect of a medicine. Try a 25c bottle of them. For sale by A. M. Hughes.

Official returns from the new 31st Circuit district give D. W. Gardner, Democrat, a majority over Dugan for Circuit Judge, of 272 votes. For commonwealth's attorney A. B. Stephens had no opposition.

In reversing judgment of the Boyd Circuit Court in a case of Boyd county against Jack Arthur and others, Magistrates of the county, the Court of Appeals construed the law authorizing the appointing of supervisors of roads in counties and the expenditure of public money for that purpose.

It holds that members of the Fiscal Court cannot serve as road supervisors, and cannot vote money to themselves for such work; that it has no authority to appoint more than one supervisor for the county; that it has no authority to allow its members any other compensation than that fixed by law, and that where the Co. Attorney refuses for any reason to prosecute an appeal to the Circuit Court or the Court of Appeals the County Judge of the county is authorized to prosecute it.

The questions were presented to the Court through the making of an order by the Fiscal Court of Boyd county appropriating to four Magistrates the sum of $1400 to be spent according to the directions of each Magistrate, and of another order allowing these Magistrates the sum of $3 or day each for supervising and directing the work in their respective districts in constructing and maintaining county roads. The County Judge opposed the appropriation of the money, and instituted suit to restrain the court from so using the money. The Court of Appeals says that so much of the order appropriating $1400 is unofficially correct.

Japan's Fire Bird. A manufacturer of fireworks in Nagasaki, Japan, makes a remarkable rocket from which, when it explodes in the air, there flies a large bird, resembling a humming bird in its movements. For more than 400 years the secret of this wonderful production is said to have been in the possession of the eldest child of the family to which the manufacturer belongs.

BAN ON TOBACCO CHEWING
Iron-Clad Edict Issued Nearly 200 Years Ago Against the Habit—License Required.

In the code of laws passed by the towns of Windsor, Hartford and Wethersfield in the years 1738-39 may be found the following on tobacco chewing: "Forasmuch as it is observed that many houses are kept in and committed by the frequent taking of tobacco, it is ordered by the authority of this court that no person under the age of 21 years nor any other that hath not already accustomed himself to the use thereof shall take any tobacco until he has bought a certificate under the hands of some one who are approved for knowledge and skill in physics that it is useful for him and also that he has received a license from the courts for the same. And for the regulating of those who either by their former taking it have, to their apprehensions, made it necessary to them or upon due advice are persuaded by the use thereof, it is ordered that no man within this colony after the publication hereof shall take any tobacco publicly in the streets, highways or any open places, under the penalty of sixpence for each offense against this order in any of the particulars thereof, to be paid without gain saying, upon conviction by the testimony of one witness—that is, without just exception—before any one magistrate. And the constables in the several towns are required to make presentment to each particular court of such as they do understand and can convict to be transgressors of this order."

QUEEN HAS $75,000 THIMBLE
King of Siam Presents Wife with One Valued at Big Sum—Is a Rare Work of Art.

The costliest thimble in the world is undoubtedly one possessed by the queen of Siam. It was presented to her by her husband, the king, who had it made at a cost of over $75,000. This thimble is an exquisite work of art. It is made of pure gold in the shape of a half-open lotus flower, the floral emblem of the royal house of Siam. It is thickly studded with diamonds and other precious stones, which are so arranged as to form the name of the queen, together with the date of her marriage. Not long since a Paris jeweler made a most elaborate thimble to the order of a millionaire. It was somewhat larger than the ordinary thimble and the agreed price was $2,000. The gold setting was scarcely visible, so completely was it covered with diamonds, rubies and pearls in artistic designs and rubies showing the initials of the recipient. Five or six years ago a jeweler in the West end was paid a sum of nearly $15,000 for a thimble which the pampered wife of a South African crocus insisted on having made for her. This was one made of precious gems—diamonds and rubies.

FEW 1804 DOLLARS EXIST.
Genuine Coin Is Rare, But Many Counterfeits Are in Circulation—One Brings $1,200.

Of the silver dollars of 1804, one of which recently sold for nearly $1,200, the mint records show that only 1,369 were ever coined, and of these nearly the entire lot was shipped to one of the Barbary states. The ship foundered and they were lost. Very few genuine coins of that year exist. The director of the mint relates that Senator Cockrell sent him several years ago what purported to be one of these dollars for an examination as to its genuineness. When subjected to heat the "4" dropped off, showing that the last figure on an ordinary coin had been removed and this substitution so cleverly that nothing less than direct heat would reveal the deception. Counterfeiters are believed to be plentiful.

MOURN BY SMASHING TEETH

Sailor Tells of Queer Way in Which Sandwich Islanders Show Sorrow at Death.

"My dog has just died," said a tourist, "and I feel bad enough to knock out my front teeth and paint the lower part of my face black, the way the Sandwich Islanders mourn their dead."

"Come off," said his companion. "Come off." He did not believe that the mourning dress of the Sandwich Islanders was like that.

"What I tell you is the truth," said the tourist. "That is why so few Sandwich Islanders have all their teeth. The black holes in the front of these people's mouths don't mean they are deficient people dentally. They mean that a father, a mother, or a wife has been lost. The Fijian mourning is all done by the women. When a Fijian dies the women must burn themselves to show that the community feels the affliction. Usually they burn themselves on the arm. In Turkey, when a member of the family dies, the others put on violet—violet is the Turkish mourning color. The mourning color of the Egyptians is yellow. The Ethiopians is brown. The Chinese is white. Ours is black."

ACCIDENTS FOLLOW POLICY
Insurance Man Declares That Casualties Are Sure to Come—Thinks Old Job the Best.

"I've been in the accident insurance business just four days," said the dyspeptic-looking man to a Chicago Inter Ocean man. "I've written six policies, and already two of the people have put in claims. It's a funny thing what effect an accident policy seems to have on some people. They will live for 35 or 40 years and never get a scratch. Just let them get one of my double action policies and they go at once and get hurt. A man seems to think an accident policy is a thing to keep him from getting hurt and that so matter what he does or where he goes he is safe. One man asked me the other day if there would be any danger to him in taking out the policy. I was afraid of the risk and told him he was certain to be killed. It's a strange way for people to look at the thing, but they do, and I'm about ready to go back to my old job of selling washing powder to unsuspecting housewives."

CROUPIER NOT BAD AS SAID
John L. Sullivan Tells Tale of Monte Carlo, Landing Kind-Hearted Stake Payers.

John L. Sullivan was talking about the croupiers of Monte Carlo, says the New York Tribune.

"They are not so bad as they are painted," he said. "They have warm blood in their veins. They are sorry for you if you lose their money—your money, I mean. And if you ask advice of them, they give you good advice—good advice every time. I watched a young Englishman playing roulette not one evening. He lost about $1,000. Toward midnight he took out a gold locket. He smiled wretchedly at the croupier, twirling the locket in his fingers. This is my last gold piece," he said. "Where do you advise me to put it?" "Put it," said the croupier, "back in your pocket."

Curious Turkish Foods. Three singular preparations of grape juice are known in Turkey, and our consul at Harput thinks they might all be made and liked in this country. Baskuk consists of sheets resembling leather, made by evaporating grape juice to the consistency of molasses, then mixing flour with it and drying it on cotton cloth in the sunshine. Kesame is in cakes half an inch thick. It is made by using coarse wheat grits instead of flour is mixed with the grape molasses and is dried on metal plates. Sujuk, still more savory preparation, is made by stringing walnut meats on twine, and then immersing the strings thus formed in the mixture of flour and grape juice. When coated about a quarter of an inch thick the strings are hung up to dry.
